EDITORIAL

Hari Om!

Greetings from Chinmaya International Foundation (CIF)!

As we present to you the 8th edition of CIF's Annual Newsletter on this Gurupūrṇimā Day of 2015, it gives us immense pleasure to see how far we have come since our first edition way back in 2008.

With the global launch of the Chinmaya Birth Centenary Celebrations in Ernakulam, Adi Sankara Nilayam, the home of Śrī Ādi Śaṅkara, earned the rare distinction of being the first centre to receive the Chinmaya Jyoti Yatra. The Chinmaya Sandesh Vahini carrying the Jyoti and Pūjya Gurudev's Pādukās was welcomed at CIF with great pomp and splendour as the 'Yagnatarium' rolled-in to the CIF campus. Pictures and reports of the welcome accorded to the Vahini, which you will read in the upcoming pages, do little justice to the moment we all experienced while the pañcavādyam (traditional Kerala orchestra) played to welcome the Vahini.

The past year also saw the debut of the collaboration of CIF and Manipal University (MU). The first-ever International Summer School 2014, dedicated to the 'Living Cultures and Philosophies of India', jointly organized by MU and CIF, was held at Adi Sankara Nilayam in July 2014. Interestingly, MU has a Dvaita Philosophy Resource Centre (DPRC) whereas CIF focuses on Advaita. The coming together of these two modern institutions, rooted in traditions, is very significant and upholds the spirit of Indian philosophy. Just before we went to press, the 2nd International Summer School 2015 - 'The Word and the World' was inaugurated on July 13.

Prof. V. N. Jha's 5-Level courses on 'Learning Sanskrit Language Structure : Theory and Applications' organized by Chinmaya International Foundation Shodha Sansthan (CIFSS) also took-off with Levels 1 and 2 in July and November 2014, respectively. The culmination of the 5-levels would enable the student to comfortably read and analyse Sanskrit texts.

Swami Ramakrishnananda visited the US, for the second consecutive year, with his Easy Sanskrit workshops. Travelling through the country for 6 months, Swamiji visited 17 centres! His legendary methods and styles of teaching enthralled the audiences yet again, with befitting receptions awaiting him in every centre. You will have to read it to believe it.

With so many camps, workshops, seminars dedicated to Sanskrit, it is only fair to say that the language, contrary to popular belief, is alive and kicking.

Too many firsts happened in the year gone by. June 2014 will be remembered in the history of CIF as the month when CIF's first-ever convocation for the students of its Foundation Vedanta Home Study Course was held. The Bhagavad-gītā Course convocation was held to coincide with Gītā Jayanti in the month of December. Ādi Śaṅkara Jayanti and Gītā Jayanti will, henceforth, be occasions for the convocation of Students of Home Study Courses (HSC).

Pūjya Guruji Swami Tejomayananda launched CIF's first-ever webinar course 'LEARN SANSKRIT GRAMMAR - THE PANINIAN WAY' on Śrī Rāma Navami day in March 2015. Renowned Indologist, Dr. V. Rajarao Bandaru is course instructor. Its first batch crossed the maximum intake within days of opening admission. The course is so sought after, that we now have a wait-list of students awaiting the launch of its second batch. The course is different from other HSCs as this is a fixed-scheduled, limited-students course, earning them University credits. Know more about the course at <http://learnsanskritgrammar.chinfo.org>

Swami Swaroopananda, renowned motivational speaker and author of CIF's Make It Happen™ online course arrived at CIF, bringing with him his famous and popular workshop on management. The 35 delegates were in for a spin of a lifetime with Swamiji's wisdom and wit. Know more in our centre-spread, dedicated to this life-management seminar.

CIF and its Shodha Sansthan launched several books and digital media in the past year. We are also glad to inform you that CIF now offers for purchase, the publications of the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan through the CIF Chinmaya Vani Online Store on www.chinfo.org/cifchinmayavani

The Living Philosophies and Cultures of India - A two-week Summer School

July 24 - August 7, 2014

1st International Summer School 2014

The last week of July marked the beginning of the two-week Summer School by CIFSS, in collaboration with Manipal University (MU). The Summer School boasted of an eclectic mix of 22 participants from across the globe, ranging from Harvard to IIT, Delhi.

Dr. Dilip Kumar Rana welcomed the gathering during the inauguration, with the Course Directors - Prof. Arindam Chakrabarti, Director, University of Hawai'i, Honolulu and Prof. Shrinivasa Varakhedi, Registrar, Karnataka Sanskrit University, Bengaluru covering the objectives of the Summer School and outcomes of the programme. Prof. N. P. Unni, Chairman, CIFSS introduced the delegates to the Centre and its activities. Swami Advayananda, Ācārya and President, CIF, expressed gratitude to MU, CIFSS and the course directors for conducting such an event; while Dr. Neeta Inamdar, Associate Professor and Head of the Department of European Studies (DES), MU shared the journey of the Summer School from Manipal to Veliyanad.

This initiative was taken up to lay a foundation stone for younger generations, with the primary focus being academic discussions on the Indian philosophical schools, their conceptual and historical significance and relevance in our lives. Towards the end of the programme, the participants presented their learning from the Summer School.

Apart from the aforementioned dignitaries, the valedictory session was graced by Sri Srinivasa Kumar N. Acharya, Assistant Professor, DES, MU. Swamini Niranjanananda and Swami Sharadananda, expressed their elation on how this remarkable event would lay the foundation stone for academic discussions on Indian philosophical schools and help the younger generation to understand its importance. The programme ended with a vote of thanks by Dr. V. Shivani and certificate distribution.

Each student carried home a signed copy of 'The Path of Proofs: Pramāṇapaddhati of Śrī Jayatīrtha', a standard textbook of Dvaita epistemology rendered into English by Prof. Shrinivasa Varakhedi and a yoga mat to continue practice at home. The programme received unequivocal feedback from the participants, stating the exercise to be amazingly educative and informative with the most scholarly ideas presented in an illustrative and lucid manner.

Influence of Sanskrit Literature in other Languages

September 20-21, 2014

The academic seminar on the 'Influence of Sanskrit Literature in other Languages' was conducted as part of the Sanskrit Week celebrations at CIFSS.

Prof. N.P.Unni spoke about the lackadaisical condition in government run institutions where, apart from denigrating the language, most erstwhile Sanskrit posts have either been abolished or those appointed have minimal knowledge of Sanskrit. In this scenario, he emphasized on the critical role of private-run institutions to uphold this language and its legacy. He further opined that unless public opinion is formed against abolishing existing posts and in favour of instituting new posts to Sanskrit known people, the only hope is private run institutions.

Dr. C. M. Neelakandhan, Retd. Professor, Sree Sankaracarya University of Sanskrit (SSUS), Kalady spoke about the symbiotic relationship of Sanskrit with other languages; with the influence of Sanskrit literature on other languages being well known but there being scope for research of reverse influences on Sanskrit. Dr. C. G. Vijaykumar, Dean, Kavikulguru Kalidas Sanskrit University, Ramtek, Maharashtra beautifully portrayed the influence of Sanskrit literature on various literary masterpieces in Marathi language.

By the end of the seminar, 60 eminent scholars had presented papers on 'The Influence of Sanskrit Literature in other Languages'.

Learning Sanskrit Language Structure: Theory and Application - Level 2

November 12-26, 2014

A 2-week residential course on the second level of 'Learning Sanskrit Language Structure: Theory and Application' was conducted by CIFSS for 30 students. Dr. Dilip Kumar Rana welcomed the gathering. The Chief Guest, Prof. G. Gangadharan Nair, Retd. Professor of SSUS, Kalady has made pioneering efforts to spread the message among the masses to break away the false belief that Sanskrit is a dead language and no one is found speaking it. He initiated a 10-day Spoken Sanskrit course with the help of a few of his students, which has found national acclaim. Apart from visiting foreign Universities to teach Sanskrit, he also has an online teaching programme. He made a case for Sanskrit teachers and scholars to ponder over certain tendencies prevalent amongst their ilk, to question the scholarship of someone who starts speaking the language and errs in the course of his speech. Prof. Nair encouraged the teaching community to be cautious of such negative tendencies and consciously work towards bringing the correct forms of such usages in their own conversations, so that students learn from listening to them.

Prof. V. N. Jha, the course faculty, recollected the days of educational reforms made by Macaulay from the Britisher's end and how a business establishment like East India Company caught hold of the Indian administration, by revising educational policies to ensure Indians became intellectual slaves of the British. He earnestly called upon the participants to learn and teach Sanskrit to comprehend the rich heritage they possess.

Swamini Nirjanananda appealed to the learned community to adopt a village and teach Sanskrit to all the villagers free of cost and expressed hope that at least after a generation, someone will address the United Nations in Sanskrit.

The course covered the following topics -

- * Levels of Studying Language
- * Sanskrit Syntax: Pāṇinian Model
- * Sanskrit Cases (Kāraka)
- * Case-suffixes and Upapada-vibhaktis
- * Cases-Agentive, Objective, Instrumental, Dative, Ablative, Locative and Genitive
- * Syntactic Agreements with reference to Person, Number, Gender and Case

A set of 15 DVDs containing the video talks/series of lectures of Level 1 course conducted earlier by Prof. V.N. Jha and Dr. V. Shivani at CIF, was released during this course.

Bhāskarācārya's Līlāvatī - Translated and edited by A. B. Padmanabha Rao

Written by one of the most iconic mathematicians of medieval India, Bhāskarācārya's 'Līlāvatī' is a text in Sanskrit dealing with geometry, first degree indeterminate equations and permutations. To add a poetic twist to the tale of prosaic translation and explanations, numerals and mathematical formulae are translated literally into words. Last but not the least, the appendix includes proofs based on the author's works in algebra and astronomy.

A novel approach is adopted to translate Sanskrit verses into English syntax, which makes sense in English translation. This translation will be useful to a large segment of readers whose knowledge of Sanskrit language is limited, and also to the small segment of Sanskrit scholars whose exposure to modern mathematics is limited.

This book creates a window into the field of ancient Indian mathematics for the present generation of students and teachers, along with an awareness of the great contributions by India in the world of mathematics. Drawing from the Buddhivilāsinī commentary, the verses are explained in detail with fully worked out examples and additional remarks. Numerous diagrams make it easier for the reader to understand the context.

With over 35 years of teaching experience, A. B. Padmanabha Rao retired as the Dean of Science faculty and has published several papers and text books on mathematics. He has presented papers on history of mathematics at ICM, Hyderabad (2010) and ICHDM, Jaipur (2013). Apart from this book, he has also published the book 'Bhāskara and Piṅgala, the relevance of their mathematics in the present context'.

A set of 7 DVDs containing video talks/series of 14 lectures on Mānamālā by Late. Prof. Revathy Sukumar, delivered during the 'Textual Workshop on Indian Philosophy - A Brief Analytical Study' at CIF in June 2010.

Mānamālā is a text on epistemology, authored by Acyutakṛṣṇānandatīrtha with a commentary by Śrī Rāmānanda. This text analyses the six means of knowledge (Pramāṇa), namely Pratyakṣa, Anumāṇa, Upamāṇa, Arthāpatti, Anupalabdi and Śabda from the context of Advaita epistemology.

Prof. Revathy Sukumar (1959-2014) served as a Professor and Head, Department of Sanskrit, University of Madras. Her explanation on Mānamālā is exemplary and throws light on these six Pramāṇas and the Advaitin's exposition of the same.

Easy Sanskrit workshops with Swami Ramakrishnananda

July - December, 2014

Swamiji and participants during the workshop

Swami Ramakrishnananda, Ācārya, Chinmaya Mission Nagapattinam and author of CIF's Easy Sanskrit course embarked on his second trip to the US to promote Sanskrit, the ancient divine language of India. Following the success of Swamiji's Sanskrit workshops in the US the previous year, several centres had either confirmed a follow-up workshop or had invited Swamiji for the first time. The workshops covered the length and breadth of the country from San Jose to LA and Houston, followed by Austin, Boston, Chicago and Atlanta before moving to Washington, Ann Arbor, and Pittsburgh. In the last leg of his journey, Swamiji held the audiences captive in New Jersey, Boston (Metro), San Diego, Atlanta (Alpharetta) and Minneapolis before he left the shores of the US. In all, Swamiji managed to cover 17 centres in this short span.

With Swamiji's popularity for being "the world's best and humorous Sanskrit teacher" preceding him, he did not restrict himself to linguistics alone. As a true Vedāntic teacher, he elucidated on Śrīmad Bhāgavatam, Bhāja Govindam, Bhakti Sudha and Rāmayaṇam, apart from conducting the language workshops. Swamiji's joyful way of teaching even made serious texts like Bhakti Sudha easy to interpret!

The feedback across all the centres was no different. Every session was a celebration of the text in Swamiji's inimitable teaching style ornate with presentations, quick crisp sketches and usage of props to drive home the central message of each portion. There was not even a minute of boredom, as Swamiji charmed and challenged everyone to learn without inhibition. Interactive and engrossing, the Sanskrit course lectures were no different and replete with simple fun-filled learning techniques to facilitate learning in kids and adults, alike! People had to stop themselves from rolling with laughter when Swamiji play-acted, sang opera-style, mimicked accents, and often 'cooked up' hilarious examples, quoting mouth-watering Indian delicacies!

Each centre out-did the other with record attendance. Their love for Swamiji only grew.

The first trip had recorded a maximum of 110 people. In Swamiji's second visit, Houston shattered all records of attendance with 200+ attendees engaged in Swamiji's classes with rapt attention. With centres requesting Swamiji to visit them again and some centres missing out on the workshops, Swamiji is already planning his next trip in the fall of 2015!

These workshops were organized largely through the efforts of Swami Shantananda, Ācārya, New Jersey & President, Chinmaya Mission West and Swami Siddhananda along with the team of Sankara Edamadaka and Pranji Bhai, who coordinated in spite of their busy schedules and Manisha Makhecha Bhagat, Project Coordinator, CIF.

Bhagavad-Gītā Refresher Course and Convocation

December 2-8, 2014

On the auspicious day of Gītā Jayanti and Tapovan Jayanti, CIF witnessed two landmark events, namely the first convocation ceremony of the Bhagavad-gītā Home Study course and the inauguration of the Bhagavad-gītā refresher course - contact sessions.

The convocation ceremony began with an invocation by Sevika Shailaja, welcomed by Sri Siddharthan, Manager, CIF with Dr. Dilip Kumar Rana presiding over the function. In his presidential address, Dr. Rana stressed on the importance of introducing Sanskrit as a subject in the curriculum of all schools. 22 students received certificates for completing the Bhagavad-gītā course from Dr. K. G. Poulose, Former VC, Kerala Kalamandalam, Deemed University for Arts and Culture which was accompanied by a convocational address. The benedictory address was given by Swami Sharadananda and Śiṣyānuśāsanam of Taittirīyopaniṣad was chanted by Br. Sagar Chaitanya along with other Ācāryas. Sri Sathish Kumar Menon from Dubai made a presentation on the promotional work for Bhagavad-gītā that he has undertaken in Dubai. Few students who received certificates shared their impressions and experiences. The programme concluded with vote of thanks by Manisha Makhecha Bhagat.

In the second event, the contact class programme commenced for the batch of 30 students under the tutelage of Swami Sharadananda and

Br. Narayan Chaitanya as the Ācārya and Upācārya, respectively. Swamiji expounded the 15th chapter of the Bhagavad-gītā for an in-depth study. He introduced Bhāṣya reading to students by showing how to split words and form prose order, and also explained the word meaning. This generated a lot of interest in students to take up the study of Sanskrit seriously and to equip themselves to read and understand the Bhāṣya. His classes were very absorbing and made everyone reflect deeply on the subject. He also quoted extensively from many Upaniṣads and the Bhāṣya of Śrī Ādi Śaṅkarācārya to emphasize on the beauty of reading any text in its original language.

Apart from the guided meditation classes in the morning, the afternoon classes on concepts in Bhagavad-gītā were well received with ample interaction between the students and Ācāryas. Participants presented papers on topics given to them in advance and also had various group discussions.

The evening classes were an amalgamation of bhajans and lectures on Bhakti by Swamiji. Swamiji spoke on Toṭakāṣṭakam, and elucidated on the role of Bhakti in the path of a seeker. The Bhagavad-gītā Chanting Competition and Quiz saw enthusiastic participation with the winners being awarded in the valedictory function. Campers devoutly participated in the celebration of 'Kārtikai Dīpam' on December 5

Vedic Mathematics in Tirunelveli

December 12-18, 2014

In association with CIF, School of Vedic Maths, Mumbai, conducted a week-long workshop on the subject at Pushpalata Vidya Mandir, Tirunelveli for the second consecutive year and saw participation of 312 students from classes 6th to 8th, who had gone through the first module in the previous year. They learnt advanced calculation techniques in squares and square roots, digital roots and divisibility of primes in the second module. The first timers were taught various techniques in multiplication and subtraction.

Apart from delivering the designated course content, the faculty, Sri Vinay Nair, also asked the students to solve puzzles related to the techniques being taught. The children enjoyed these puzzles and expressed their desire to continue puzzle-solving even after the course; and decided to connect over a social networking group for the same.

Students exploring Vedic Maths

On the last day, an orientation session was held for the teachers on techniques to handle a class of students having varying levels of comprehension abilities. The school management expressed their interest in having sessions the following year as well.

Vedic Mathrix 2015

April 27-May 1, 2015

In its sixth year, Vedic Mathrix 2015, conducted by CIF and School of Vedic Maths saw participation of 95 students from across the country. The 5-day camp covered ancient Indian geometry and portions from the texts of ancient Indian mathematicians, namely, Brahmagupta and Bhāskarācārya.

The faculty, Sri Vinay Nair's explanations on topics like geometric-algebra, derivation of triplets, construction of rational triangles & quadrilaterals, cyclic quadrilaterals, Brahmagupta's geometry, problems from Bhāskarācārya's Līlāvatī and Kaṭapayādi number system were well-received by the delegates. Group discussions and explorative learning through unconventional and non-routine problems opened up new avenues of problem-solving. Amidst the camp, Nishith Anand, an ardent devotee of Pūjya Gurudev and faculty at Chinmaya

Practical geometrical constructions in the courtyard and mind-boggling puzzles caught the fancies of students and echoed in their feedback. The camp had set this batch of students on a life-long journey of mathematic exploration, yet again.

Foundation Vedānta Course - Convocation

April 23, 2015

The third convocation of home study courses for students from different parts of the country, was held on Ādi Śaṅkara Jayanti, presided by Swami Asheshananda. Swami Advayananda and Swami Sharadananda were also present for the occasion. The programme started with lighting of the lamp and an invocation, followed by the welcome address by Smt. Kalavathy, Former Administrator of CIF HSC.

In his address to the students, Swami Advayananda stated that while clinging on to our old habits, attaining the Supreme is impossible and how regular sādhanā is a must for a spiritual aspirant to overcome these old tendencies. Swamiji quoted the example of an ant on a salt hill and a sugar hill. Till the salt hill ant gave up the salt in its mouth, it was unable to experience the sweetness of the sugar hill. Similarly, he explained that mokṣa would remain elusive until a seeker gained complete conviction.

While blessing the audience, Swamini Niranjanananda asserted that completing a course was not an end to spiritual studies; it was a continuous process to be pursued till liberation.

The traditional convocation oath in the form of 'Śiṣyānuśāsanam of Taittirīya-upaniṣad'. was led by Swami Sharadananda, with all the students joining in. This was followed by the distribution of certificates by Swami Asheshananda.

A few students shared their experiences and impressions on the various courses. Gopika, an Easy Sanskrit student said that her father who had completed three courses from CIF was her inspiration for joining, and she wished to pursue the next level as well. Pramod Chakrabarty from Kolkata, who had completed the Bhagavad-gītā course said that he found CIF courses immensely useful and well-structured. He promised to promote these courses in his geography. Gopaldas Wadhwani suggested a greater marketing effort on the part of CIF for their courses, in order to transform larger groups as it had done for him.

Sanskrit Examination by Cambridge International Examination

September 2014

In association with St. James School in London, UK, CIF is working to promote the Sanskrit Home Study courses. St. James School promotes and supports teaching Sanskrit in schools and other institutes, world-wide. The institute guided CIF to let its' students take the Sanskrit exam, offered by Cambridge International Examination (CIE), the largest international education programmes' provider in the world.

The examination is conducted at three proficiency levels, namely basic, advanced subsidiary and advanced. St. James facilitated and sponsored the participation of 29 students of CIF, including 9 staff-members, students of the Home Study Courses and 7

Ācāryas from the organization. All these students appeared for the various levels of this examination, corresponding to their respective proficiency levels in Sanskrit.

We are happy to announce that all participants passed with flying colours. While Sri Swaminathan, one of the sevaks at CIF, scored a marvelous 94% and topped nationally in IGCSE Option B level, Br. Veda Chaitanya, topped nationally with a score of 97% in the advanced subsidiary level of the examination.

In an interview to DNA daily newspaper in Navi Mumbai, Br. Ved Chaitanya stated, "I took the exam to make people aware of the opportunities to excel in Sanskrit and put the knowledge to good use. If one chooses to diligently learn the language, there are various options in terms of vocation. While they can opt to teach the essence of the sacred texts to interested people, there are opportunities to conduct research both in India and abroad. Researchers are contemplating using Sanskrit as a computer language because its time-tested syntax and structure make it easy, with less word usage."

Finally, he emphasized on the integral role of Sanskrit in preserving our culture and vice versa.

Prior to the exam, CIF organized week-long preparatory classes led by Swami Sharadananda and Dr. V. Shivani. The exams have motivated students to delve deeper into the Sanskrit language. We hope many more people take up these exams in the coming years.

Sanskrit Week

September 17-21, 2014

As part of the annual Sanskrit Week celebrations, CIFSS organized various kinds of competitions and academic seminars for school and college students. The inaugural Chief Guest, Dr. Baldevananda Sagar, a veteran Sanskrit news reader with All India Radio presented several examples of Sanskrit being used in modern life, like in electronic gadgets or the Pāṇinian principle of sound widely used in mobile applications. He portrayed scientific grammatical foundations of Sanskrit language on which the edifice of several Śāstras are built, having endured the test of time. He urged everybody to learn Sanskrit to probe deep into the hitherto unknown and un-trodden vast gamut of written works, available in Sanskrit language. Prof. N.P. Unni described how learning Sanskrit fundamentals at a young age had supported him well in his academic pursuits. Prof. P. Geervani expressed sadness in not being able to learn the language when young and encouraged all parents to send their children to learn Sanskrit in order to build a strong base for our nation. He lamented the present condition of scientific Sanskrit learning, and beckoned everyone to cultivate the habit of learning Sanskrit language through simple poetry, grammar and other scientific literature.

During the course of the week, several competitions like recitation, essay and story writing, elocution, speech extempore, quiz, music and drama were held, drawing students' participation in large numbers. Chinmaya Vidyalaya, Tripunithura won the over-all championship with Bhavan's Vidya Mandir, Velloor coming a close second. Towards the end of the week, 60 eminent scholars presented papers in an academic seminar on The Influence of Sanskrit Literature in other languages.

Chinmaya Inspiration Yatra

January 7- 9, 2015

31 CHYKs from 17 cities across North America set off on a Yatra to Bharat, under the guidance of Ācārya Vivek, Chinmaya Mission, Niagara and Sheela Gupta, who leads the CHYK activities in US and Canada. With this 3rd edition, the Chinmaya Inspiration Yatra has enabled 70 young minds to experience and connect with the spirit of the Motherland. The group travels to various Chinmaya Mission ashrams across India, giving these youngsters a flavour of ashram living and exposure to various wings of the mission.

Sādhanā Camp - Chinmaya Mission Visakhapatnam

August 10-18, 2014

Swami Anantananda, Ācārya, Chinmaya Mission, Visakhapatnam conducted a 9-day Sādhanā camp on 'Ātmabodha' in Telugu for 23 delegates. Independence Day celebrations and a trip to Kalady and Guruvayoor temple summed up the other activities organized for the delegates in the camp.

In the course of their Yatra, the group arrived in CIF on January 7. As soon as they reached, each of them were directed to their individual rooms to spend 24 hours in solitude. The purpose of solitude was to reflect on the learning of the past 20 days of the trip and experience 'being alone'. They were provided with some fruits and water in their rooms. As soon as the solitude duration ended, they proceeded directly for the Chuttu Vilakku, the traditional lighting of 1008 lamps around the Chinmaya Swayambhu Ayyappa temple. The rest of the time at CIF was occupied with group discussions, an early morning trek to Pāzhūr temple, a tour of the ashram and a presentation on CIF. Swamini Niranjanananda addressed the group on how to live a life full of devotion.

In the words of one of the Yatris, "When we visited the birthplace of Ādi Śaṅkarācārya, we found it to be one of the most powerful and silencing places on the Yatra. Not only because of the hours of self-reflection or the serenity of the coconut groves, but also because it was the birthplace of the profound philosophy that we are studying. As the Vedānta courses conducted at CIF open the minds of philosophers and scholars, the library serves as a beacon of inspiration to every art form in the world. When each of us started with just a handful of deepams and lit all the deepams in the temple, we realized how a handful of people could spread their knowledge and wisdom to many others, just with a pure and dedicated mind."

Make It Happen with Swami Swaroopananda

January 24-30, 2015

Swami Swaroopananda, a spiritual leader and mentor is a world-renowned public speaker and expert in the field of personal, managerial and spiritual development. His versatility spans a range of subjects fusing the ancient spiritual truths of our culture with the fast paced modern life style. Based on his profound insights into personal and corporate lives, his seminars and lectures offer practical techniques and insights for people to increase their efficiency and live a dynamic life.

One of his flagship management workshops, Make It Happen™ is filled with powerful ideas and eternal principles to take one on a journey of self-discovery and highly effective tools to Make It Happen.

So, when CIF organized this week-long workshop with Swami Swaroopananda, it wasn't a surprise that delegates from different corners of the world, namely Australia, Malaysia, Singapore, Dubai, USA and from Jaipur, Delhi, Bengaluru, Mumbai, Kannur and Cochin, within India, participated in the workshop. The diversity in demographics was furthered by the age and profession mix, with people from different walks of life like business, media, education and other corporate fields coming together.

Nobody knew what to expect from the workshop, especially those who had never witnessed Swamiji's inimitable élan and panache! When asked to "Expect nothing!" by Swamiji, most of them were caught unawares.

The workshop was inaugurated with the traditional lighting of the lamp, dispelling the darkness of ignorance with the lamp of knowledge by Swami Swaroopananda, Swamini Shivapriyananda, Ācārya, Toronto, Canada, and Swami Advayananda, who also welcomed the gathering. The end moment arrival of Swamini Shivapriyananda for the occasion was a pleasant surprise. Swaminiji addressed the inaugural gathering and actively participated through the entire duration of the workshop.

To set the ball rolling, two ice breakers were planned for the delegates. In the first one, each individual had to think of an animal and act accordingly; followed by imitating the animal's sound in the successive round. Participants with similar animals were grouped together and two teams were formed. The final round of the game needed the participants to pass a ball between them faster than their competition. In the second activity, participants were blindfolded and asked to walk towards their target. While each of them would begin on a straight line, they would somehow go off the path and miss their targets. Lessons in team work, goal achievement and time management were already building the foundation for the week in store!

As the week progressed, apprehensions were put to rest and each individual established a special connection with Swamiji. Every session including the activities and questionnaires had a deeply ingrained message, driven home effectively by Swamiji in his impeccable style, reflecting experience and wisdom.

While the guided meditation sessions in the mornings at the divine feet of Gurudev in the serenity of the temple complex set the mood for the day, each evening by the pond quietened the ripples in the mind.

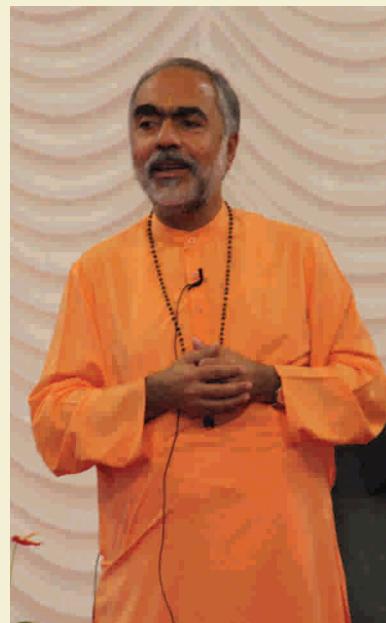

In one of her two sessions, Swamini Shivapriyananda shared a few relaxation techniques. In the session during lunchtime, she elucidated mindfulness by demonstrating mindful eating, where she asked the delegates to enjoy their meals with a thorough understanding of the taste of each item. This was just an example of how we can be mindful through each and every activity of ours!

In one session, Swami Advayananda introduced CIF and its activities to the participants. They were also given a tour of the entire ashram including the Library and the Manuscripts section. Inspired and awe-struck by the magnitude of work being done, many participants expressed their willingness to serve in some or the other capacity. True to the vision of Gurudev for CIF, the bridge between the past and the present, East and West, pundit and public, science and spirituality seems to facilitate transformation manifold.

In one of the cultural evenings, 'Kalaripayattu', a traditional martial-art form of Kerala marked by dexterity and lithe movement of the limbs was witnessed by the delegates. Another of these evenings saw the Annual Day celebrations of Chinmaya Vidyalaya, Tripunithura. In addition to their enthralling fusion dance drama performance, the students even enacted a mime on the life of Pūjya Gurudev!

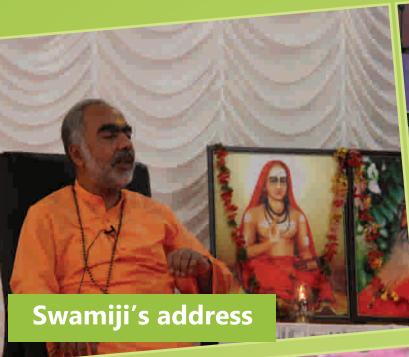

As the formal workshop drew to a close with the valedictory function, these participants had experienced the energizing journey from mental chaos to clarity and positivity under the guidance of a Guru and the scriptures. This closure was just the beginning of newly formed bonds with oneself and others, a new found direction towards one's calling; in short, a beautiful new life!

Just before people headed back home, everyone visited Alleppey for the enchanting houseboat-ride of Kerala. Swamiji beautifully interspersed nature and its' infinite aspects with each ones' lives, ensuring learning never takes a break! Truly, every breath, a teaching...

The delegates studied Bhaja Govindam and Nirvāṇaṣaṭkam with Br. Ved Chaitanya and 'Śiṣyānuśāsanam of Taittirīya-upaniṣad' with Swami Sharadananda. In Nirvāṇaṣaṭkam, the students got a glimpse of how Realized Masters ended dualities and reveled in the Supreme - cidānandarūpah śivo'ham śivo'ham. The participants felt while Nirvāṇaṣaṭkam had opened their eyes, Bhaja Govindam ensured they were wide awake. "Bhaja Govindam - worship, serve and seek the Lord, is the path we all have to take and serving the Guru would lead us to our destination", summarized one individual.

In the sessions on Śiṣyānuśāsanam of Taittirīya-upaniṣad, Swami Sharadananda enunciated what speaking the truth and following the path of Dharma truly meant. This was followed by evening satsangs with the other Ācāryas present in CIF, namely Swami Atmeshananda, Swamini Atmikananda and Swami Advayananda.

For some, there was the added joy of visiting Padmanābha temple, Attukal Bhagavati temple, Suchindram, Kanyakumari temple, Swami Vivekananda Rock Memorial, Kalady and the famous backwaters of Kerala with Br. Ved Chaitanya.

Quoting feedback by some participants at the end of the camp, "If there is a paradise on earth, it is here, it is here, it is here. Lush greenery, ancient heritage structures, temples, ponds, tree lined paths ideal for walks and talks and warm Kerala hospitality; little wonder that we were transported to the Gurukul systems of yore."

A camp on Kaivalya Navanītam, a Tamil Vedāntic text was conducted by Swami Ramakrishnananda. In his inaugural address, Swamiji briefly described that text Kaivalya Navanītam contains two parts, Tattva Vilakka Padalam (The Exposition of the Truth) and Sandeham Telithal Padalam (Doubts-cleared), authored by Śrī Thāndavarāya Swāmigal, as the essence of Advaita Vedānta, comparing it to butter as the essence of milk. Tattva Vilakka Padalam (The Exposition of the Truth) and Sandeham Telithal Padalam (Doubts-cleared). Part 1 of the text Tattva Vilakka Padalam enunciating the Highest truth, beautifully laid down in simple poetic Tamil language, was conducted last year. This year, part 2 of the text - Sandeham Telithal Padalam (Doubts-cleared) containing 180 verses, was further elucidated by Swamiji over the next seven days. He explained each word of the text, citing various examples and references from Bhagavad-gītā and Upaniṣads.

PROJECT CIF – OUR OFFERING UNTO GURUDEV

On the occasion of the centenary year 2016

Phase One: An overview

Five years ago in the year 2010, CIF took a saṅkalpa that it will construct just the right environment to meet Pūjya Gurudev's Vision for Sanskrit research. Gurudev's vision had been clearly the revival of Sanskrit as tradition, history, study and language, for in all these lay the key to understanding the origins of Vedānta. Added to this was the vision to take Vedānta to the world. To do so, the world should find a welcoming path to the East, a path that would not be fraught with difficulty, a path that would also be receiving and accepting of the visitor's philosophy. This he called: an environment where East meets West.

Gurudev also wanted that Vedānta explain science. The world was divided not just by religion but also by states of scientific development. Science is a sibling of philosophy and explains the behaviour of matter just as philosophy explains the machinations of the mind-intellect. And both are scientific and this is explained lucidly in Vedānta. Hence a meeting ground for science and spirituality, (which is mind guided by the highest level of philosophical reason) which is not dogmatic, which is courageous to face debate, which is fully equipped with a laboratory to test the tenets of Vedānta against the dogma of science. This he called: where Science meets Spirituality.

Scholars Block

Shivasree

Gurudev had seen that spirituality had, over time, come to be defined through an unbending, severely structured religiosity that mankind resisted and hence abandoned. Gurudev had come to be known for his benign and sharp explanation of religion as a simple manual of living which need not come from a preacher but could be derived from philosophy. It was this that endeared him to the masses. And even if he went to millions in his 40 years as a teacher, there remained a vast populace that needed to be touched. Gurudev wanted that the pundit who controlled knowledge, now open his doors to the people; build a path over which they could reach him and a path that would lay bare the means to understand the wisdom in Vedānta. This he called: where Pundit meets Public.

The entire reasoning behind a 3-pronged vision like this, is the fourth prong, the respect and value for the efforts put in by our rṣis and saints of the past. The experience and knowledge of our rṣis are needed in every age to lead a healthy life, a life that also nurtures society. The grace and greatness of Vedānta comes to us from that same rich past and it must continue in the present and nurtured so that it flows into the future. Because 'past' may be old, but old is not always outdated. This is one instance where old is truly gold. This he called: where Past meets Present.

The plan to nurture this Vision evolved out of a series of meetings to primarily create the optimum infrastructure that could host these bridges that Gurudev wanted built. He had drawn the blueprint, but now was the time to construct, and a big part of that construction was the hub of the Vision.

In a concerted 5-year plan, CIF planned to construct rooms to accommodate 400 people, a kutiyā for Pūjya Guruji, a full-fledged library that would cover the length and breadth of Sanskrit studies, a conference hall, a communication centre to facilitate researchers and a manuscriptology department that would mine the past and extract researches and writings while also create a preservation centre where manuscripts can be protected.

In 2010, the cost of this configuration was estimated at ₹ 16 crores (US$ 2.5 million). Two categories of funding were defined: Bhūdāna (donation of one square feet of land) and Mahādāna (contribution towards 100 square feet of land.) By the time the third year was reached, the costs had escalated taking estimates to ₹ 20 crores (US$ 3 million).

In the first phase which was offered at this Centenary Celebrations, the following portions were completed and made available for use by visiting delegates:

- a) Accommodation Block
- b) Pūjya Guruji's Kutiyā
- c) VIP Block or the Scholars' Block
- d) Staff Quarters
- e) A temporary Satsang Hall to accommodate a larger gathering

A critical part of the cost escalation came from very sharp increases in the prices of raw materials like cement. The profitability of southern cement firms, which were already weighed down by high costs of freight and power, was the worst in several years, and the companies had little choice but to increase prices for survival. As a direct result of this, project cost went up.

A project like this needs to be fed steadily, constantly so that there is no idle cost and given the rising costs of raw materials, this can end up being debilitating. In fact, in the first phase of the project, donations were a mere trickle. In a bid to make the project widely known and appreciated, a website for Project CIF was set up and followed up with a brochure that went out to as many Mission members as possible, thanks to the tireless efforts of Yuvaveers.

The first round of donations came in, and generously at that, from Home Study Course (HSC) students, campers, devotees and CIF patrons. Approximately, ₹ 1 crore came from this band of donors and was a great boost to the project.

Promotion of Project CIF then went all out, and was done through ad mailers, posters, announcements at Mission Centres and word of mouth too, chief among them being Pūjya Guruji's own canvassing for support at his yajñas. After this level of promotion, the second round of donations came from the Chinmaya Mission family, and Mission centres in India and abroad.

In the last phase, CIF approached CM Trusts and in this third phase contributions came from Chinmaya Mission trusts across Kerala and Chinmaya Vidyalayas – the last mentioned a very touching gesture as research being aided by education is appropriate and fitting.

But in the interim, the delay in harnessing funds also added to cost escalation. As the risk of the project being grounded for lack of funds, was high, a loan had to be resorted to – a remedial safety measure but it came at a cost. The cost of delayed funds is high for a not-for-profit organisation as its loan-taking ability is low.

Construction paused at a point, due to shortage of funds as well as man power, the latter a function of the former. Soon after, help was sought and assistance came from some Mission centres, which helped in completing the stranded parts of the project. Chinmaya Mission West and Chinmaya Mission UK stepped-in in time with significant monetary support, as by then the costs had gone far beyond estimates.

Part one of the project was completed in time as planned for the Centenary Celebrations, as per the initial saṅkalpa. The rest of the project will be completed in the second phase of the project, once funds are raised.

A core part of the funds for the 2nd phase will come from room sponsorships. In the first phase, rooms were offered for sponsorship. A member can fund a room and thus also book it in the name of a dear one. That room stands testimony to the donor's love and high regard, while also keeping for him or her, an accommodation for when he/she visits CIF.

Out of the 125 rooms offered for sponsorship, 50 were sponsored in phase one. The next 75 will form seed funding for Phase - 2 and set the right mood for the larger funds to flow in. CIF is hopeful that CIF family members will subscribe early and thereby find opportunity to attend all the great events at CIF.

The new accommodation block was inaugurated by Pūjya Guruji on Diwali day, November 2012, during the 'Living in Meditation' Camp. Guruji named this block 'Shivasree' in the presence of Sri G. V. Eashwar, one of our major donors and patrons of CIF, and many senior Ācāryas. Around 275 delegates had been accommodated at Shivasree. The capacity was put to use soon and three other camps were held at this place in the next year with a view to also learning from the experiences of the room users and campers.

The CIF Trust Board had put in place a continuous audit and review process in order that mistakes, if any, are corrected, learnt from and examined. They brought in the architect Navin Nair to review the plans and discuss the needs of every department and present a projection of the needs of the next 10 and 20 years. This exercise went on for 3-4 months. It is planned to move the current administrative offices to the new complex in Phase-2. The current office is located in the illom's extension which is now sought to be protected for posterity.

It is pure grace that has enabled this yajña. Every year, we urged devotees and they in turn put out their best. In gratitude for their great support, a Lakṣmi Nārāyaṇa Pūjā is held annually for the six years since 2009 on Makara Sañkrānti day. Many devotees and donors make the effort to come to Veliyanad and receive the love and blessings of Lord Nārāyaṇa and His consort Śrī Lakṣmi.

With Their continued blessings over our patrons and devotees, Phase-2 will begin soon. It is estimated to cost ₹25 crores (US$ 4 million).
